

Many people do not understand how this personal data is collected and used online.

In the modern world today, people do not know how their personal information is shared online, though social media, shopping, and mobile apps. This lack of awareness can lead to violations of privacy, identity theft, and manipulation to one another.